

LISTENING COMPREHENSION

Elephants

Kenya is the first country to try to protect elephants by text message. Mobile phone SIM cards inserted in the collars of elephants automatically send a text when they roam too close to farms, allowing wildlife rangers to drive them off rather than shooting them.

1. Listen to the story and complete the sentences below:

- Hungry elephants pose a big problem for _____ and _____ when they raid for _____.
- Two years ago, rangers had to _____ because they destroyed crops.
- An animal protection group installed a _____ in the collar of a bull elephant.
- When the elephant leaves a certain area, a _____ is sent to rangers.
- It seems that other elephants _____ from the bull elephant, so that the whole group of elephants _____ their _____.

2. Choose the correct answer for each sentence:

- Hungry elephants wipe out
  - a. food.
  - b. livelihoods.
  - c. the process.
- The “Save The Elephants” group
  - a. have built a fence around the elephants.
  - b. use mobile phones to communicate with each other.
  - c. control elephants using GPS (global positioning system).
- The bull elephant “Kimani”
  - a. has been stopped from raiding farms 15 times.
  - b. has been shot 15 times on a farm.
  - c. has been given 15 different SIM cards.
- The project is expensive because
  - a. the SIM-card must work successfully.
  - b. five rangers must work all the time.
  - c. the vehicle stands around so much.